I am told that "Old Free State," Vol. 2, p. 185, says Margaret² Caldwell m. John³ Rodgers and had John Rodgers and four others, then m. James Mitchell and had five children. I am also told that Elizabeth Venable Gaines, in "Cub Creek Church and Congregation," p. 90, quotes letter from John Rodgers, Nashville, Tenn., dated May 11, 1825, in his 79th year, saying his parents were John Rodgers and Margaret Caldwell, dau. of immigrant John. In another letter published in Virginia Historical Magazine, Vol. 19, p. 92, I believe he says his mother married Mitchell as second husband.

Genealogical and Historical Information Sought

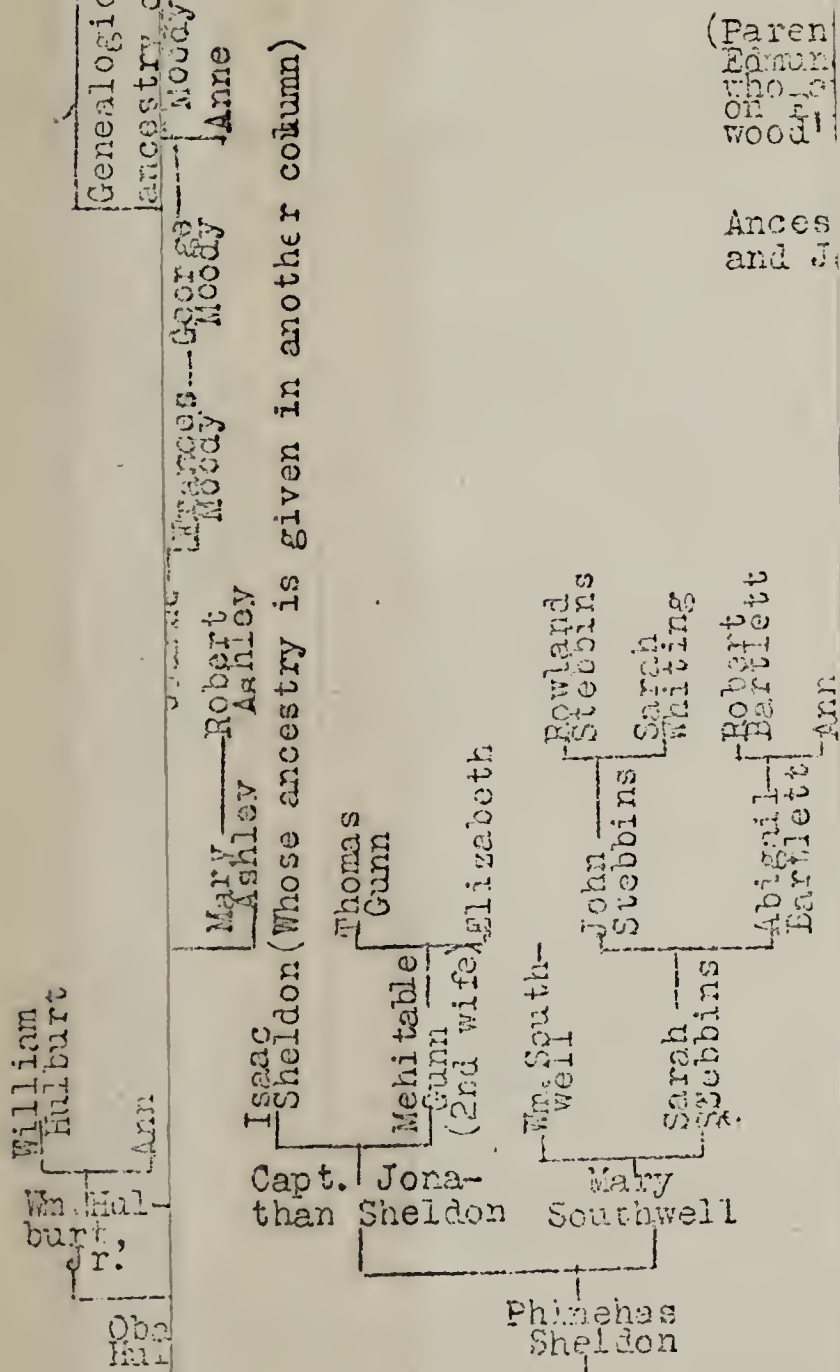

The following is a list of men and women, nearly all ancestors of mine. In practically every case I can give at least a little information about them and usually can name many (in a few cases hundreds) of their descendants. I am anxious to exchange data. I always desire proof of information given me but in altogether too many cases cannot give proof for what I have. I shall appreciate any slightest bit of information, or evidence, or word as to where information or evidence may be obtained. In fact, it may save work for correspondents if they will simply give references, for I may already have what they offer, or may be able to find it.

I was born in Plainview, Nebr., Sept. 3, 1885, son of David Sherwood Hulburt (who was b. at Onandaga Hill, N.Y., April 30, 1843, and died at Athboy, S. Dak., Jan. 14, 1934) and India Siloam Rogers (who was born in Smith County, Va., March 16, 1854). This compilation of their ancestry (and that of my wife, Emma Elizabeth Hidd) is temporary and tentative, made to facilitate study, and is not to be quoted as authority. Although I do not fully agree with the Rt. Hon. Lord Raglan, President of the Section on Anthropology, made before the British Association for the Advancement of Science, on "What Is Tradition?" yet I know that there is much truth in it. Under the head, "Family Tradition" he said:

"There are in this country many families whose 'traditions' take them back to the time of the Norman Conquest, when their ancestors are alleged to have distinguished themselves either on the side of the Normans or of the Saxons. It can be said without fear of contradiction from those who have studied the subject that not one of these is a genuine tradition. All are the work of pedigree fakers, who have flourished from very early times, and there is not a word of truth in any of them. No English family can trace a genuine descent to the Saxons, and though there are a few families with a genuine Norman descent, this in no case goes as far back as the eleventh century."

Keeping this in mind, I have found it well to question many supposed genealogies, especially those running back of the immigrant ancestors. But I am constantly in search of the facts.

Campbell

Thomas, Oyster Bay, L.I.; his dau. Phoebe, b. May 5, 1734, m. Joseph Sexton, Huntington, Long Island, Feb. 4, 1764, d. Wytheville, Va., Feb. 14, 1830.

Campbell, John, (b. 5-12-1768, d. 7-12-1843 in Smyth Co., Va.) m. in Washington Co., 3-10-1799, Dorcas Tate (b. 3-19-1782, d. 12-15-1817 in what is now Smyth Co., Va.) and became father of John Marshall, Jerome B., Spotswood Mitchell, William Tecumseh, Lyander Seculotte, Eliza, and Clarinda Pinckney. There has been so much confusion that I give below additional facts to confirm his age.

Census 1810 shows Capt. John Campbell b. earlier than 1770 with wife b. previous to 1784, 2 girls under 10 years, 4 boys under 10, and one 10 or over. John M. was 47 at 1850 census, Clarinda 43, Spotswood M. 45, Jerome B. 42. So I think no doubt this is the John we seek. The 1840 census showed a John Campbell, Sr., b. later than 1665, with no wife. I believe this also is he.

One family record, said to have been copied out of the old family Bible, seems to indicate that a John Campbell m. Elizabeth Campbell and that they were the parents of my John. The latter had a half brother, Audley, or Edley, who m. Mary Elliott in Augusta Co., 1791, d. 1845, buried in Rich Valley.

Some have believed Dorcas' husband was a son of Patrick Campbell, son of "White David."

There were two Captains John Campbell of Washington County, in the Revolution, Capt. John of Rich Valley and Capt. John of Royal Oak. Some have thought Dorcas' husband was Capt. John of Rich Valley. This could not have been true, because that man was a Capt. in 1777, when our John was 9. I do not know whether this man was the Capt. John of Washington Co., who was b. 1742 or 1743 or 1748, d. 1808. But this man was old enough to be the father of Dorcas' husband. Had he a son John? If so, could he have been Dorcas' husband?

Some have believed Dorcas' husband was Capt. John of Royal Oak, but that man was b. 1741. It could not have been his son John, because that John never married.

Some say the one b. 1743, d. 1808, and who, I suppose, was the Capt. John of Rich Valley mentioned above, was the son of Maj. Charles Campbell and Margaret Buchanan. Most accounts I have seen of their children give Elizabeth, Jane, Margaret, William, and Anne. But it has been said that they had a son John who went to North Carolina and was still there 1773. One family record says he died at age of 2. The Highlander No. 1 says in one place they had a child John who d. in youth and in another place says it was their son John who was b. 1742, d. in Washington Co., 1808, having m. Mary Anne, and that he had a brother Joseph.

Some who do not pretend to give his ancestry, say the John b. 1745, d. 1808, m. Mary. Others say he m. Ruth Edwards or Ruth Edmundson. It has been said that John and Joseph Campbell (presumably these children of Charles Campbell and Margaret Montgomery) came to Rich Valley with the Buchanans. If so, my John may have been a son of one of them.

Some have said Dorcas' husband was the John who enlisted for 12 months, just before King's Mountain, at age 18; that he served for 15 years against Indians, being during three years a captive of the Cherokees, that he rose to the rank of Colonel and then left the army and m. Dorcas. But Dorcas' husband was only 12 at time of King's Mountain. Some say a John Campbell went to Kentucky to fight Indians, after becoming engaged to Mary Tate, returned to find her m. to her cousin, and himself m. her sister, Dorcas. A family tradition says my John left home at 17 or 18. This would agree fairly well with the 15 years military service, for he m. at 30.

The fact that census records call Dorcas' husband, Captain, and that he seems to have been too young for Revolutionary service, give weight to the Indian fighting theory, while casting doubt on the colonelcy, and on the 18 year old King's Mountain boy story.

I am told that the land owned by my John Campbell, in Rich Valley, was first patented to Alexander Smyth, by him sold to Alex Wolcott, and by him to John Campbell, Jr., son and heir of John Campbell deceased. But when this was, or whether John Campbell, Jr., was my John or his father, I have not learned.

It is also said that the land was granted to Campbell for military services. John is said to have been the recipient of grants of land in 1784 and/or 1785 for military services. He would have been quite young for such grants and I think likely he has been confused with other John Campbells in this connection, possibly confused with his own father. Thwaite, in his "Daniel Boone," (p.109) quotes letter from Maj. Arthur Campbell, 10-6-1774, mentions Ensign John Campbell, Rich Valley, in command at Big Crab Orchard Fort. Is he the one who was afterward Capt. John of Rich Valley? Is he the one b. 1743, d. 1808? What family had he? Some declare positively he was father of Dorcas' husband.

Whether Capt. John of Rich Valley, or Capt. John who m. Dorcas, or both, were related to the Charles Campbell family who came into Rich Valley previous to 1750, I do not know. I have already mentioned the statement that John and Joseph came with Buchanans. Wilson in "Smith County History," and others have said Capt. John of Rich Valley was not so related. Preston Sumner, southwest Virginia historian, told me he believed Captain John Campbell of Rich Valley m. Dorcas Tate and that he was related to the Charles Campbell family. I have shown above that he was not the one who m. Dorcas, but perhaps his son was.

A family tradition says John was Indian fighter who came from Augusta Co., and that his relatives from there later visited the family. This would not prove whether he was a relative of the Charles Campbell family or not. The name of John's half brother, Audley, or Edley, is unusual and if a family name may be a clue. In connection with this name Audley, is there any significance in the fact that in 1755 there was an Audley Maxwell living on Cathay's river, in Beverly Manor, and that in 1756 John Maxwell, Augusta County, became guardian of John Campbell, orphan son of John Campbell, deceased? The names of his children, John Marshall, William Tecumseh, Clarinda Pinckney, Jerome B., Spotswood Mitchell, and Lyxander Soeulotte, may be significant. Dorcas' mother was a Mitchell. The name Clarinda Pinckney is a reminder that a second cousin once removed, in the Tate family, was Clarinda Pinckney Tate. Descendants of his dau. Clarinda P. (who m. Samuel Rogers) had unusual names, but if family names, I do not know whether of Campbell, Tate, Mitchell, Doak, or Rogers lines. She had a son Charles Gidding, and a dau. India Salome (or Siloam).

Some give the ancestry of the husband of Dorcas as John (1) the immigrant and Grace Hay; William Alexander (2), and _____ McOlung (the inclusion of William Alexander does not agree with any other account I have seen of the children of John the immigrant); John (3) and Mary Martin; John (4) and Miss Matthews (said to be buried in Presbyterian Cemetery at Marion); John (5) who m. Dorcas. Dorcas' husband John (5) is said to have been one of 4 children of John and _____ Matthews, 1 of whom was Mary, and to have had a half brother and sister. Even if this line is partly correct, it may refer rather to the 18 year old King's Mountain boy.

If no facts are available concerning the Capt. John who m. Dorcas Tate, then positive facts about life or ancestors or descendants of any other Capt. John will help me, by a process of elimination.

Hayward

Lydia, b. 1683, m. at Suffield, Conn., Feb. 26, 1706/7, John Hanchett, 2nd., d. 1777.

There was a Henry Howard who was aged 8 in 1634, moved to Wethersfield and m. Sarah, dau. of John Stone. Their children were Sarah, Elizabeth, John who lived at Wethersfield and his twin Lydia, Samuel, and Mary. His will expressly states that he spelled the name Hayward, while his children spelled it Howard. Who knows the descendants of this John and Samuel? Was one of them the grandfather of my Lydia?

There was a James Hayward, Suffield, m. Mary Allen, Jan. 25, 1704/5. Was he a relative? Were they from Windsor?

Robert Hayward or Howard of Windsor, m. Lydia, dau. of Thomas Kilbourne of Wethersfield. She was b. England, July 14, 1616. Could she have been my Lydia, assuming that my date of her birth, 1683, is an error in copying for 1688?

Howard

(1) Thomas of Lynn, Mass., m. Ruth Jones, Nov. 15, 1667 at Lynn; (2) Mary, b. Salem, Mass., 1672/3, m. William Hulburt, Jr., Enfield, Conn., Jan. 1. 1693/4, d. New Haven, March 17, 1710.

What is the evidence that Mary Howard, who m. William Hulburt, was the same as the dau. of Thomas of Lynn and Salem? What evidence that this Thomas ever removed to Enfield? William Hulburt's first wife d. Northampton, Mass., June 12, 1692 or 3, and he seems to have gone, between that date and the time of his 2nd marriage, to Enfield, where he is said to have bought house and lot from his brother-in-law, Nathan Howard.

Cushman says also that Mary was the dau. of Thomas and Ruth (Jones) Howard who was b. at Salem, Mass., 1672, and removed with her father to Enfield abt. the same time that William Hulburt removed there.

Now Savage says that Thomas Howard, who m. Ruth Jones, Nov. 15, 1667, had a son Thomas, b. Jan. 17, 1669. We know that Enfield was virtually a colony of Salem, but I have not found evidence that Thomas Howard of Salem and Lynn, and wife, Ruth Jones, were among the settlers.

Allen's History of Enfield shows that two Thomas Howards, Sr. and Jr., had been granted land in Enfield by 1684. That was only 17 yrs. after the marriage of Thomas of Salem to Ruth Jones and only abt. 15 years after the birth of his son Thomas. Was land granted to boys that young, when their parents were still living?

Thomas Sr. had land on Duckhorn Meadow. In 1704 John Howard, his wife Priscilla, and his mother Ruth, and his minor bro. Benjamin, sold land on Duckhorn Brook. In 1705/6 Ruth Howard was a witness to the sale of land by John Howard and his wife Priscilla.

April 7, 1691, Thomas, Jr., had died in the public service of his country and his land went to his brother Nathan. Thomas of Lynn and Salem had a wife Ruth and a daughter Mary. Nathan had daughters Ruth and Mary.

All of this information abt. the Enfield Howards is from Allen's History of Enfield which shows that among the various spellings was Howard, Haward, Hayward. I seek any information as to what became of Thomas Howard of Lynn and Salem or whence came Thomas Howard of Enfield (had he a dau. Mary?), or whether they were identical. What is known of the antecedents of Thomas of Lynn and Salem? Is there anything to the suggestion that he was a son of Thomas of Ipswich? Is it known whether he had sons John, Nathan, Benjamin?

It is said that Capt. James Mitchell was in a party which attacked an Indian village in the Susquehanna Valley, capturing the three month old dau. of a Mohawk Chief, Blackfoot. They were: John Marshall, William Tecumseh, Clarinda Pinckney, Jerome B., Spotswood Mitchell, and Isaacser Esaulette. They had also two descendants with the name, Clarinda Pinckney.

I seek information concerning my great grandfather, Samuel Rogers, who had at least two brothers, Gilbert and Thomas. I know nothing about Thomas except descendants of Samuel and Gilbert say he stayed behind when his brothers went to Southwest Virginia, perhaps about 1820 to 1825. A grandson of Gilbert believes the brothers were from eastern Virginia county, or near there.

Samuel and Gilbert were both cabinet makers. Samuel came to Smyth County and it is said that while making furniture for John Campbell, Rich Valley, he came to know John's daughter, Clarinda, whom he married prob. abt. 1825. It is said that for a time they lived in Buncombe County, N. Car. Army records indicate their son, Charles Gedding, was b. in that state. Their older son, John Campbell Rogers, and also their younger children, were b. in Virginia, according to 1850 census. He and his wife lie in unmarked graves in family burying ground, Rich Valley, Smyth County.

Gilbert is said to have come to Tazewell County, presumably same or abt. same time Samuel came to Smyth. He m. Sena Deak. 1850 census did not show him either Tazewell or Smyth Counties. Perhaps he was then in Wythe County. His grandchildren say he lived various places--Jeffersonville, Wytheville, Thompson Valley, etc. One says he d. Jeffersonville near end of Civil War, aged abt. 63. Another says he and wife buried Burkes Garden. He had a dau. who belonged to the Church of the Latter Day Saints, who seems to have given the record that he was b. Bedford Co., Va., abt. 1804, d. Jan. 4, 1864. Another informant told the church that he d. Jan. 5, 1863. I understand no census records of Virginia 1790 and 1800 due to the burning of Washington by the British. But census reports 1810 and 1820 do not show any Rogers in Bedford County.

Both Samuel and Gilbert gave their children good educations. Samuel had one son a school teacher nearly or quite all his life. Another (my grandfather) a merchant and then head of a school for young men, but he d. young. Samuel's other son graduated West Point, served in the army only a short time and was a school man for the rest of his life, except while an officer in the Confederate army. This man's son, Charles C. Rogers, graduated Annapolis and became Rear Admiral in the U.S. Navy. His son, in turn, was an Annapolis graduate but d. young.

Aside from names, which may have some significance, that is about all I know positively. But I think it well to set down traditions in hope they may be clues.

A granddaughter of Gilbert says her father told her that the father of Samuel, Thomas and Gilbert was himself named Gilbert, and was a captain at Norfolk, Va. (evidently in navy) War of 1812. But I can't find a record of any Captain Gilbert Rogers in either army or navy. The same informant says Gilbert, Sr., m. _____ Wren.

A dau. of Gilbert is said to have gathered much family information, which was all lost later. But her nephew says she told him the family was from Edinburgh and he is quite sure the descent is from Giles Rogers, the immigrant mentioned later herein.

Various grandchildren of Gilbert tell of a first cousin of their parents, named Gedding Rogers, who was a missionary in the Indian Territory long ago, whose brothers also came there. This could not have been a son of either Samuel or Gilbert. So if the account is correct, this would seem to have been a son of Thomas, and the fact that Samuel also had a son, Gedding, would make it seem like a family name. Some of these people say these Indian Territory people were relatives of Will Rogers, but Mrs. Will Rogers thinks not. Nor have I found any Oklahoma historian who would find any record of such Gedding Rogers.

One grandchild of Gilbert says he remembers seeing buttons from uniform of a Revolutionary ancestor. I suppose this may possibly have been that Gilbert(?) who is said to have served in the War of 1812. Another says Commodore Rogers, mentioned in history of first U.S. Navy, was a relative. (He does not say ancestor.) In my brief examination of Navy records I found no such officer.

One says the family was of New England ancestry.

Perhaps a study of names and a few dates will be in order. Samuel's children were: John Campbell, b. Jan., 1826, Charles Gedding, b. abt. Nov. 1831, according to army records, abt. Sept. 1830 according to his obituary, India Silcom (or Salome), b. abt. 1836, Eliza, b. abt. 1838, Thomas, b. Dec. 2, 1843, Laura (Leuretta) as to date of whose birth I know nothing. Whether Gedding was a family name, I do not know, but if, as indicated above, this man actually had a cousin Gedding, it would seem to have been. This Gedding had a son, Charles Curtis, who in turn had a son, Armistead Calhoun, whose name I discuss later. As for Thomas, that was a family name, and Eliza also gave the name Thomas to a son.

Gilbert m. Sena Doak (said to have been a dau. of Senator Doak) of Tazewell County. She had brothers, Dr. James, (Dr.?) William and David. Gilbert and Sena had six children all of whom said to have gone to Iowa, one later to Missouri and one to California. They were:

Louisa E. (one correspondent gave me her name as Vica Sena) m. John Mahood. (They named a son Gilbert.) Samuel L. (or Samuel Mac), m. Evanline B. Hayes, Tazewell County, Sept. 14, 1865 and moved to Oakland, Iowa. (They named a son Samuel.) Robert D. went to Bethany, Mo. Thompson went to Winters, Calif. Mary m. Freel Williams in Virginia and removed to Iowa. Matilda m. Spratt and later Hancock.

Now a little more as to names. My mother was named for Samuel's dau., India Silcom. She and her sisters say that is the correct spelling. A son of Samuel's dau., India, spelled it Salome. My attention has been called to a descendant of James Rogers of New London, Conn., who probably m. Salome Hurlburt--but too late to be significant here.

Since the names Samuel, Gilbert and Thomas appear so frequently, we look for other Rogers families having those names. Probably there are very many records of the names Samuel and Thomas in Rogers families. It would be well to know when and whence the name Gilbert came, especially in view of the statement that this was my ancestor's name.

Samuel, (son of the Gilbert of whose name we are certain) who removed to Iowa, lived near another Samuel with whom no relationship was ever established. Descendants of this other Samuel say he descended from a Squire Thomas Samuel Rogers, a racing stock owner who, previous to the Civil War, took his slaves to Illinois, freed them and gave each 80 acres, a mule, a sow, some hens and a plow. He was visited by relatives from Virginia and North Carolina. There were brothers whose given names were Fowler and Monroe, and the name Armstrong seems to have been connected. Thomas Samuel had a descendant James, b. in Louisville, m. Mary McBride. They were the parents of the Samuel who was b. in Mondak County, Ill., in 1845, served in the Civil War, removed in 1892 to Hancock, Iowa, d. abt. 1917.

And there is a Gilbert Rogers who says his ancestors came from Kentucky abt. 100 years ago, some of them settling in Ill. His father came to Schuyler County, Mo. Whether he is related to the family just mentioned, I do not know.

I am submitting herewith several pages showing facts concerning various families. Any additional data tending to prove or disprove the possibility of a connection, or any corrections, will be welcome.

Mrs. J. Mitchell Rogers says the names Samuel, Gilbert and Thomas are family names in the line of her husband. Their earliest known ancestor, Thomas Rogers, is said to have come from Caswell County, N. Car., to Georgia. He m. Lucretia Treadwell, Sampson County, N. Car., abt. 1796.

It is shown on an accompanying page that William, said to have been b. in 1799, is said to have m. 1720, Mary Caldwell. I have been told that Calhouns had m. into the Caldwell family, which may or may not be significant in connection with my Samuel's great grandson, Armistead Calhoun Rogers. (Nor do I know whether there is some confusion as to which family married into which and when. John C. Calhoun's mother was Martha Caldwell.) If the name Calhoun is not significant, there is a possibility that Armistead is, as I shall show next.

There was a Giles Rogers, b. Edinburgh 1643, said to have come to Virginia 1670 and then to have returned; to have m. 1672, and come again to Va. with abt. 4 children in 1680. His eldest son, Giles Rogers 2nd, b. 1673/4, came with him and after growing up, removed to North Carolina.

Giles' son Peter also b. abt. 1677 went to North Carolina. I have been told that he m. in Carolina and left a number of descendants, including a son, Col. Peter Rogers of Revolutionary fame, and also a son, Capt. John Rogers. I have been told that he m. an Armistead girl of Gloucester County, Va., and moved to N. Car. many years later, leaving five sons in Va., one of them presumably being this Col. Peter Rogers.

I am told that Peter Rogers, whose will was recorded in 1785, mentioned in his will his son Armistead and other children whom he did not name. I do not know whether he was the Col. Peter just referred to or not, but he evidently could not have been of an earlier date. This Peter is said to have had a great grandson, William Armistead, who's daughter, Mrs. A.H. Vaughan, is now living in South Boston, Va.

The following are in some cases sketchy and incomplete. Some of them are mutually contradictory, and so they cannot all be right. But any information in confirmation or disproof of any point will be welcome. So will information of ancestors, descendants, or circumstances of life, which will help to show any of these either could have, or could not have, fitted into the picture:

Samuel Rogers m. Susannah Baker in North Carolina, July 3, 1794.

Samuel Rogers' will, Dauphin County, N. Car., Jan. 1776; children: Randolph, Anne, Susanna, Rachael (said to be reported, Va. Hist. Mag. Vol. 64, No. 1, p. 47.)

Samuel Rogers, Campbell Co., Va., m. Eliz. Brent, Dec. 1795. (Said to be reported Va. Hist. Mag., Vol. 64, No. 8, p. 509, in Brent Geneal.) This or other records said to state that her sister m. Nathaniel Rogers and they went to Kentucky, 1798.

Hamilton Rogers, b. abt. 1770, m. Dinah Gregg and had ten children, of whom the sixth was Samuel, who m. Jane Adams.

Samuel Rogers, b. Bellerica, Mass., Feb. 2, 1722/3, m. April 18, 1751, Rebecca Farmer, twin sister of his brother's wife, and had Samuel, b. Bellerica, March 5, 1754, who d. a. Lt. in defense of his country in Virginia, October 18, 1781.

- (1) Nathaniel Rogers came to America 1636, settled Ipswich, Mass. His son
- (2) John, president of Harvard, d. 1684.
- (3) John, m. Martha Whittingham, and d. 1745. Their son
- (4) William, b. 1699, m. Mary Caldwell, Annapolis, Md., May 20, 1720. Their son
- (5) Thomas, b. 1724 or 25, m. Ann Elizabeth Carr and d. Charlotte Co., Va. Will probated 1786, mentioned children: Samuel, Benjamin, James H., Nathaniel, John, Andrew, and sons-in-law. His brother
- (5) William had several children who went to Kentucky.

Another correspondent gives that last sketched family very differently. She says:

Capt. Wm. Rogers was third husband of Mary Townley, and their son William, b. 1708, m. 1738, Margaret Caldwell (b. 1720) and d. Lunenburg Co., Va., Oct. 20, 1750. Their children are given as John (1746-1836), Margaret (1744-1800), Robert, one or two others, and Andrew (1749-1825). His son Thomas is here given as the one whose will was proved in Charlotte Co., Va., 1786, and he is here said to have had sons both Thomas and Samuel. Of course if Andrew, above, was b. 1749, his son Thomas was not b. 1724 or 25.

Whatever his ancestry, or date of birth, several sons of this Thomas settled for a time in Halifax County, Va. John m. there 1786. Benjamin was there 1789. Both went on to Carolina. Andrew went to South Carolina and had a son, Samuel.

Note that Halifax Co., Campbell Co., where a Samuel Rogers m. in 1795, and Bedford Co., where Church of Latter Day Saints, says my great great uncle Gilbert b. abt. 1804, lie in a row.

Any help, either positive information or mere surmises, will be welcome.
